MOTORCYCLE RACER HURT IN SPILL CLOSING DAY AT ELLENVILLE FAIR

Charley Pohlman Had Narrow Escape in Five Mile Motorcycle Race—Ida Moskowitz of Accord Wins County Spelling Bee—County Fair Grounds Need More Buildings to House Exhibits.

Charley Pohlman's marvelous escape from serious injury or death when he was hurled from his motorcycle in a thrilling five mile race; the winning of the county spelling bee by Ida Moskowitz of Accord; two hotly contested auto races, with honors even between Driver Percy Goldsmith of Ellenville, and Driver E. D. Sheeley of Wallkill, were but some of the features of Friday—closing day—at the Ulster county fair at Ellenville, which will go down in local history as the biggest and best fair held yet by the fair association.

Ideal Day—Large Attendance.

Friday was an ideal day, in fact all four days have been ideal, both as regards weather and also the attendance, and from 10 o'clock in the morning until the time of the races in the afternoon many streamed into the fair grounds.

The Midway, which consisted mainly of games of chance, was well patronized, and all of the exhibits came in for a share of attention.

The Motorcycle Race.

In the afternoon at the close of the horse racing the fair officials staged a motorcycle race, the first ever held on the fair grounds, and it proved to be a thriller. There were four entries, Leonard Meola of Wurtsboro, Charley Pohlman, Ben Walling and Tommy Durham, all of Middletown.

Meola and Pohlman had raced twice before elsewhere it was said and each had won a race. The contest Friday was a distance of five miles, or ten times around the half mile track for a purse of $50.

At the word "go" Meola took the lead, with Pohlman trailing close behind and Meola was never headed. Walling and Durham dropped in the rear, and it was seen that the race lay between the two leaders. With the course half covered Pohlman in creeping up on Meola had his front wheel hook into Meola's hind wheel in making the upper turn near the exhibition building, and too far away from the grand stand for the occupants to see just what happened.

Pohlman Injures Arm.

As the front wheel of Pohlman's speeding cycle hooked with Meola's rear wheel, Pohlman was hurled from his machine but Meola sped on.

Pohlman escaped with a badly scratched arm and some bruises, but gamely picked himself up, and resumed the race, his machine being uninjured, but in the meantime Meola had gained two laps, and the handicap was too much for Pohlman to overcome.

The time for the five miles was announced as 6 minutes 40 seconds.

As the three others did not compete the full distance of five miles the money was divided equally between them after Meola had received first money.

Meola is a member of the motorcycle police in Wurtsboro.

Sheeley Won Auto Race.

Following the motorcycle race the five mile auto race, limited to Fords, was called, and onto the track rolled five miniature racers. The Fords had been equipped with racing bodies, similar to those adopted by the big racing machines in the Vanderbilt cup races and other big classics. They were also painted various colors, the winning machine being painted a dark brown.

The race was for five miles for a purse of $250. There were four entries, Percy Goldsmith and Floyd Ackerley, both of Ellenville, and Clarence Ronk and E. D. Sheeley both of Wallkill.

This race proved as thrilling as the motorcycle race, especially when the racers would skid around the turns hugging the pole which was lined with eager watchers. At the word, "Go," Goldsmith jumped into the lead but on the second turn Sheeley's car poked its nose in front, and from then on was never headed, although Goldsmith finished close behind. The fight for third money was close between Ronk and Ackerley. Ronk led for a considerable distance, but on the last two laps Ackerley's little green flivver crept up and passed the Wallkill car, and flashed across the line third place winner.

Sheeley, first; Goldsmith, second; Ackerley, third, and Ronk, fourth.

The time was announced as eight minutes four seconds.

Goldsmith Revenged.

While Goldsmith was beaten out in the first auto race he sought revenge and in the second race redeemed himself by winning first money. The second race was over the same distance for a purse of $250, and the race was a repetition of the first with the exception that Goldsmith when he took the lead at the opening held it firmly and was never headed although Sheeley pressed him close. Ronk also redeemed himself in this race and nosed out Ackerley for third place.

Goldsmith, first; Sheeley, second; Ronk, third, and Ackerley, fourth. The time announced was eight minutes, one second.

Were Thrilling Races.

This was the first time in the history of the Ulster county fair where both motorcycle racing and auto racing were on the racing card, and there is no question but the events thrilled the big crowd, and it is seen by the time made that considering the fact that it is a half mile track with nasty turns for a speeding machine some exceptionally good time was made.

Junior Hal Won Easily.

It took four heats to decide the 2:26 class, pace or trot, for a purse of $400 at the afternoon racing session and Junior Hal, owned and driven by J. S. Murray of Chester won the first, did not place in the second, and then won the third and fourth heats with ease. Mr. Murray put up a "kick" regarding the second heat in which he finished sixth, but his protest was over-ruled by the judges. He claimed he had been badly crowded off to one side by the racing horses.

Junior Hal is a handsome brown gelding and the finish of the first heat was a beauty with Play Boy Bingen, Peter Bond and Junior Hal bunched together with the latter about half a length in front at the wire. The time was 2:20¾.

With the exception of the second heat Junior Hal easily outclassed the field and won without difficulty. There were six starters in this event.

The Summary of 2:27.

The summary of the 2:27 follows.

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Junior Hal, J. S. Murray, Chester | 1 | 6 | 1 | 1 |
| Peter Bond, J. S. Brasted, Middletown | 3 | 1 | 2 | 4 |
| Lady Fostyn, Peter Naker, Chester | 5 | 2 | 6 | 2 |
| Play Boy Bingen, Homer Kuhlmann, Ellenville | 2 | 5 | 3 | 3 |
| Just It, H. D. Fraleigh, Red Hook | 4 | 3 | 5 | 6 |
| Billy S., E. D. Schoonmaker, Ellenville | 6 | 4 | 4 | 5 |

Junior Hal won first money, Peter Bond, second money, Lady Fostyn, third money, and Play Boy Bingen fourth money.

The time was: 2:20¾; 2:24¼; 2:21½; 2:25¾.

Hattie Outclassed Field.

Hattie Cope, a brown mare, owned and driven by A. Monzo of Hamburg, N. J., romped home in the 2:14 class, pace or trot, purse $400, and won in three straight heats. There were four entries.

Hattie's closest contender was Silver March, a gray mare owned by E. K. Mansfield of Hoboken, and both horses fought it out to a finish with Hattie having a shade the best of it.

A rather unusual feature of this race was the fact that all four entries were placed the same in the three heats.

The summary follows:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Hattie Cope, A. Munzo, Hamburg, N. J. | 1 | 1 | 1 |
| Silver March, E. L. Mansfield, Hoboken | 2 | 2 | 2 |
| Miss Chamberlain, George A. Malloy, Middletown | 3 | 3 | 3 |
| Hal Gentry, J. H. Sisco, Paterson, N. J. | 4 | 4 | 4 |

The time, 2:22; 2:19½; 2:21¼.

The County Spelling Bee.

The county spelling bee was held in the morning on the grounds with about forty school children entered, but the entries proved such extremely good spellers that it was necessary to adjourn the spelling bee to the Ellenville high school to give those holding seats for the grand stand a chance to occupy them.

That the ones who took part in the bee had been thoroughly drilled was soon evident to the district school superintendents who were the judges of the bee.

The 5,000 word list prepared by the state education department was exhausted, and the judges were forced to use another spelling book before it was possible to pick the winner.

Ida Moskowitz of Accord "spelled down" all entries, winning first place and a trip to Syracuse to the state fair in September, where she will participate in the state spelling bee. The best speller from each county in the state gets this free trip and the chance to compete for the state championship.

John Scanlon of West Shokan finished second and Maria Rimmi of Rifton was third.

All three children were between 12 and 14 years of age.

Supervisors at Banquet.

Wednesday was "Supervisors' Day" at the county fair and that noon the board of directors of the fair association had the supervisors as their guests at a banquet at the Mitchell House. President F. J. Potter, of the fair association, presided as toastmaster and delivered an address of welcome to the guests of the day, and trusted that it would prove a day that would long linger in their memory.

President Potter also touched upon the need of new buildings for the fair ground and the same thought was contained in the message delivered by Thomas E. Benedict, a former president of the association, and H. Westlake Coons, attorney for the fair association.

More Buildings Needed.

After the banquet the visiting guests were conveyed to the fair grounds, and were shown the proposed improvements. The big building that houses the industrial exhibit needs to be enlarged. The association would also like to erect a new chicken house and a stock house also.

There were over 6,000 exhibits at the fair this year, and the space set apart for exhibits was badly congested.

Own Fair Grounds.

The Ulster County Agricultural Society now owns the fair grounds, and this year has made a number of improvements to the grounds, and would like to make many more for the fair in 1921. It is expected that the association will have a committee appointed to meet with the supervisors at the annual session and ask them to make an appropriation to be used in improving the fair grounds, and in that way to help make the fair an annual event that all Ulster county could look forward to with pride.

The association since it was organized deserves great credit for what it has done and it has not only placed Ellenville on the map, but has made the Ulster county fair a noted one.

The Ulster county fair in 1920, however, will go down in history as the best and biggest fair, with the largest attendance of any held since the fair was first organized, and the directors plan an even better showing next year.

AUTO AND SUIT CASE STOLEN

Two thefts were reported to police headquarters this morning. The first was an Oldsmobile owned by Father Rua of New York city, and the other a suit case owned by Max Steinschneider, also of New York.

The priest was visiting in Ulster county with his friend, J. J. Kelly, a parole officer of New York. Last night they parked their car in Taddonio's garage just across the Eddyville bridge. There was another Oldsmobile in the garage at the same time. The priest's car was locked and the other was not, but the stolen car was a later model. The thieves broke into the garage and stole the locked car. The stolen car is painted green. The theft occurred between 3 and 7 o'clock this morning. It was also reported that three suspicious persons were seen in the vicinity of the garage during the night.

Mr. Steinschneider left his suit case standing on the sidewalk in front of the central post office for about fifteen minutes and when he returned it was gone. It was a tan case, practically new, and contained clothing. He offers a reward of $15 for its return.

CITY STONE FOR CREEK BRIDGE

The board of public works held a special meeting Friday afternoon at which time it was decided to accept Contractor Michaud's offer to supply stone for the concrete work for the proposed suspension bridge across the Rondout creek from the city quarry. Contractor Michaud was also granted permission to partially close off West Strand provided he allow the shipyard men to cross at that point, and also to post detour signs warning those using the street that construction work was in progress and that they used the street at their own risk.

The board also decided to amend the parking ordinance relative to Railroad avenue and to prohibit parking on that street from Thomas street to the upper end. This action was taken as the board has received a number of complaints with regard to the parking of cars on that end of the street.

Several other matters were taken up, and the board then adjourned.

Sues Highland Doctor.

The Fallkill Construction Company of Poughkeepsie has brought suit against Dr. J. W. Blakley of Highland for the amount of the concrete curbing, etc., placed about his property when the new road in Church street was laid. This is a contested case and a number of others living on the same street who have not paid for the same work will watch the case with interest. The case was brought before a referee in Milton Tuesday evening. The property in Church street was in some instances considerably damaged, the defendant said, and those who are fighting the Fallkill company claim that the curbing belongs to the street and not to the individuals.

Accident Near Highland.

In trying to pass a Peerless car driven by Richard J. Wulff, president of the Commercial Trust Company of Brooklyn, near Highland, Frederick Heintz turned out the wheels of his Oakland car too far with the result that the wheels went over the edge of the gutter and the car turned completely over pinning Mr. Heintz and his wife underneath. Both were cut and bruised quite badly and taken to a nearby house to have their injuries dressed by a doctor. The Oakland car was a complete wreck. Mr. and Mrs. Heintz who live in New York were taken home by Mr. Wulff.

Still Enjoys It.

Wednesday the editor of the Independent celebrated his 76th birthday. He has been over 51 years in the editorial harness right here at New Paltz and still enjoys newspaper work.—New Paltz Independent.

Trolley Hearing Monday.

The Public Service Commission, Second District, by Chairman Hill, will hold a hearing here Monday in Case 7653, Kingston Consolidated Railroad Company, petition to abandon certain portions of its constructed routes in Kingston.

INVITED TO SCOUT CAMP CLOSING

The Boy Scouts of Kingston who are in camp at the Boy Scout camp at Watson Hollow are having a wonderful time and at the same time are being benefited in health by their outdoor life. As one visitor at the camp explained, it would be a wonderful thing for the business men of the city if they too could go out and live in the open with the boys, under the same discipline and taking the same exercise as the boys receive under the direction of Scout Executive Muhlemann. They would be benefited in health and would be well paid for the outing.

During the past few weeks many people have gone out to Watson Hollow and spent a night with the boys and all interested in the work are invited to inspect the camp.

Among the recent vistors at the camp were Prof. Robert Service, Mr. Bachelet and Henry Darrow who spent the night with the boys and gave them a very interesting talk. Mr. Bachelet, the inventor who gave the wonderful demonstration at the high school a short time ago of his inventions and experiments, told the boys of the latest electrical theories and spoke of his experiences during the war while he was in London engaged in war work. Of special interest to the boys was his description of air raids in London and of the work done by the Boy Scouts. When warning of an air raid was received in London the Scouts, who were organized for the purpose were sent out on bicycles warning the people of the city to seek shelter, each boy having a certain territory to cover. In order to be ready for an emergency the boys were stationed in the police barracks. After a raid the boys again went out and gave the "all clear" signal.

Mr. Darrow spoke to the boys on road work, explaining state road construction and repairs and explaining the cause of frost blisters and how proper drains would prevent them. Various methods of road construction were explained and illustrated.

Eugene Morehouse of New York will visit the boys this evening and give them a talk on "Ellis Island" he having worked there at one time and being well informed on the topic, the boys will undoubtedly have a very interesting evening.

On Monday evening the boys will hold their final camp-fire and big pow-wow. There will be a minstrel show given by the boys and a general good time, incident to the closing of the camp for the season. All interested in the Boy Scout work are invited to attend.

During the summer the boys who have attended the camp have not been idle. There is a regular program laid out for each day and the program has been lived up to. Still this did not prevent the boys from having a genuine good time. A swimming pool has been built by the boys and although the water is cool (52 degrees) the boys have had a wonderful time under Mr. Muhlemann's direction.

SUNDAY BAND CONCERT PROGRAM

The following program will be rendered Sunday afternoon and evening at Kingston Point Park by the Citizen's band, Harry G. Maisenbelder director. Tommy Dolan, the popular young singer of this city, will sing with the band this evening and Sunday afternoon and evening, and having been heard at nearly every one of the local amateur entertainments, he has become a great favorite, and no doubt there will be large crowds at the park to night and Sunday:

LAST OUTDOOR SERVICE SUNDAY

The last out of doors devotional service at Broadway and Pine Grove avenue for this season will be held Sunday evening at 7:45 o'clock. Mayor Canfield, as a layman, will deliver an address on "The City of the Bible." There will also be a song service with special solos beginning at 7:30. Plenty of seats will be available, as well as parking space for cars. It is hoped that this final service will see an even better attendance than the others, which have proven very popular. Should it rain, the service will be held inside the Y. M. C. A. building.

Clintondale Convention.

A two day convention will be held in the Nazarene Church, Clintondale, September 5 and 6. On Labor Day it is expected that a large delegation will be present from New York city. Those taking part in the services will include the pastors of the districts and the local minister. Miss Ida Murphey and deaconesses of the missionary auxiliaries will assist in the meetings.

INSTRUCTION FOR WOMEN VOTERS

Public Meeting at High School Auditorium on September 11 Will be Addressed by Representatives of Three Parties.

A special meeting of the board of education was held at the office of the board in the high school Friday night for the purpose of receiving bids for work on the storage building, as per specifications. This building is in the rear of the main building and provision for it was made at a previous meeting.

The bids received were from William E. Dederick, $498; and T. I. Rifenbary & Son, $370. The contract was awarded to Rifenbary & Son.

The building committee reported in favor of awarding the contract for the cement floor for the same building to William Davis for $400 which was adopted.

A communication was received from Mrs. N. D. J. Murphy, asking for the use of the high school auditorium on Saturday evening, September 11, for a meeting for women voters. The meeting will be instructive and educational in character and will be addressed by prominent Republicans, Democrats and Prohibitionists, who will speak in regard to the method of voting in order that women may exercise their franchise and not lose their votes.

On motion of Surrogate Gill the request for the use of the auditorium was granted.

The board then adjourned until its adjourned regular meeting on September 3.

M'SWEENEY IS BARELY ALIVE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Aug. 28.—Terence McSweeney, the hunger striking lord mayor of Cork, still hovered in the shadow of death in Brixton jail today while appeals continued to pour in upon the British government.

McSweeney entered the sixteenth day of his starvation martyrdom with no signs of the weakening of his iron will. He spent a restless night and was much weaker and more feverish than he was on Friday. It had been reported that purgatives had been administered in his drinking water, but the physician of Brixton jail denied this.

His wife and sister visited McSweeney during the morning and it was through them the physician issued his denial.

"Terence is in a terrible condition," said his sister. "If the government intends to release him, it should not be left until the last minute. If he is not to be released, he should be allowed to die and not kept lingering."

Pledges Self to Uphold Rights of Americans Everywhere—Wants "Wiggling and Wobbling" Policy Ended and Points to Outrages in Mexico as One of Its Results—Would Remodel Hague Tribunal and Put Teeth in It—League Cannot Survive Single Test.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Marion, O., Aug. 28.—A new world court of justice, built on the foundation of the old Hague tribunal and brought up to date with some timbers saved from the wreckage of the league of nations, was brought forward here today by Senator Warren G. Harding as the Republican party's international peace policy.

He would take and combine, he said, all that is good and excise all that is bad from both organizations to get an effective peace instrument "with teeth in it."

Only in some such manner as this, Senator Harding asserted, can the world obtain the lasting peace for which it is crying, future wars be prevented and America insured of obtaining her independence in foreign affairs.

In his first "fighting speech" on international relations, delivered from his front porch today to Indiana Republicans, Senator Harding declared the league conceived at Paris has broken down utterly. It is due to the far sighted Republican senate, he said, that American soldiers are not now fighting on the Polish-Russian front.

Senator Harding savagely attacked the administration's entire foreign policy—from Mexico to Europe and from Armenia to Latin America.

"Wiggling and wobbling" was the term he frequently used to describe it

"Let us have done with wiggling and wobbling," he concluded. "Steady America!"

Wasting but few words in introduction, the senator devoted his remarks entirely and at once to the foreign situation. He said in part:

"Let us suppose the senate had ratified the peace treaty containing the league covenant, what would be the situation confronting our country today? There is but one answer. Before this day we would have been called upon to fulfill the obligations which we had assumed under article ten, to preserve the territorial integrity of Poland 'as against external aggression.' Let us assume further that the performance of the allotted task required waging war on the Russian people, as, of course, it would. We are reliably informed that only congress can declare war and congress might reject the appeal of the executive.

"Could congress do that without staining indelibly the honor of the nation?

"I answer 'no' and back of my judgment stands the president of the United States."

Senator Harding explained that at a meeting of the senate foreign relations committee, he put just such a situation as this before the president, who, after some evasions replied: "We would be untrue if we did not keep our word." It was with reluctance and grave misgivings that he voted for the reservations to the league, Senator Harding said.

"But now," he continued, "conditions have changed. We know now that the league constructed at Versailles is utterly impotent as a preventative of wars. It is so impotent it has not even been tried. It could not survive a single test. The league mistakenly conceived and unreasonably insisted upon has passed beyond the possibility of restoration. It rested upon the power of might, not of right.

"The assertion is made frequently that through the surrender of our nationality we might have saved the life of the covenant; that is, although 28 nations could not make it function, one added to that 28 could make it a glowing success, provided that one be America.

"What can it signify if not to the United States alone that the other 28 nations look for the bone and sinew, the money, munitions and men to sustain the entire organization, not as an agency of peace but as an armed force?"

Senator Harding quoted Lloyd George, the British premier, as saying that no armed force could be sent to Poland's aid because the European nations could not furnish the troops and the United States had "withdrawn from co-operation." Senator Harding continued:

"However, if I am elected, as I fully expect to be, I will not empower an assistant secretary of the navy to draft a constitution for helpless neighbors in the West Indies and jam it down their throats at the point of bayonets borne by United States marines.

"Nor will I misuse the power of the executive to cover with a veil of secrecy repeated acts of unwarranted interference in domestic affairs of the little republics such as in the past few years have not only made enemies of those who should be our friends, but have discredited our country as their trusted neighbor.

"On the other hand, I will not submit to any wrong against an American citizen by any government. This statement is made solemnly, with enmity for none and friendship for all. If it particularly applies to Mexico, the application has been directed by the robbery and murder of hundreds of our people in that unhappy country who were lawfully there. These outrages are largely the consequence of wiggling and wobbling.

"This admonition is not directed exclusively towards our next door neighbor. It is intended as a notice to every government on the face of the earth that the entire resources of this nation are pledged to maintain the sacredness of American lives and properties. This is not bombast, my countrymen, it is a note of assurance that is the right of American citizenship.

"The line of demarkation between our attitude and that of our political opponents is perfectly plain. The president has made his position clear. He still holds article ten to be the heart of the covenant. So does the Democratic platform. So does the Democratic nominee.

"The Democratic nominee has flatly said he is 'in favor of going in.' I am not. That is the whole difference, but it is a vital one for it involves the disparity between a world court of justice supplemented by a world association for conference, on the one hand, and the council of the league on the other.

"There are distinctly two types of international relationship. One is an offensive and defensive alliance of great powers, like that created at Versailles, to impose their will upon the helpless peoples of the world. I am opposed to such a scheme. Other peoples have as good a right to seek political freedom as we had in 1776.

"The other type is a society of free nations, animated by considerations of right and justice, not might and self interest, so organized as to make attainment of peace a reasonable possibility. I favor it with all my heart.

"This country is already a member of such a society—The Hague Tribunal, which, unlike the league, is still functioning, and within a few weeks will resume its sessions under the chairmanship of an American representative.

"In that we have the framework of a really effective instrument of enduring peace. The world has profited from a great object lesson. The horrors of war and the eagerness for peace have become universal.

"This makes vastly easier the task of so strengthening the Hague Tribunal as to render its just decrees acceptable or enforceable. Advocates of the league say the tribunal lacks teeth.

"Very well, let's put teeth into it. If, in the failed league of Versailles, there can be found machinery which the tribunal can use properly and advantageously, by all means, let it be appropriated."

Senator Harding quoted both Premier Lloyd-George and Viscount Grey as suggesting that representative Americans draw up suggestions for the construction of a league, in conformity with the feelings of all the parties in America.

"I value that suggestion," he declared, "for that is what is in my own mind and substantially what I would propose doing if elected.

"The objection in some quarters that this course would involve the reconvening of the entire convention is a slight one. There would be no material delay, for the acceptance of our proposal by the few principal nations would undoubtedly be followed promptly by the minor ones.

"I should give very earnest and practically undivided attention to this vital subject from the day of election and I should ask others to do so as a matter of public and patriotic duty.

"One cannot be more specific with any degree of certainty. No one can foresee the exact conditions by which our country will be confronted seven months hence.

"Our moral leadership was lost when 'ambition' sought to superimpose a reactionary theory of discredited autocracy upon the progressive principle of living, glowing democracy. My chief aspiration will be to regain that lost leadership for my country."

Charged With Assault.

William Lyons who on August 17 hanged Ralph Cook, 11, to a tree near his home in Preston Hollow, was committed to the Albany county jail Friday on a charge of assault in the first degree with intent to kill. Lyons will be taken to Rensselaerville next week for a hearing before the justice of the peace of that town. At first the man was held on a technical charge of vagrancy. He was arrested Thursday night by state troopers.

Three Traffic Violators.

J. D. Silverman and Julius Hall, both of New York city, were arrested Friday by Motorcycle Officer Walter for speeding 30 miles an hour. They gave bail for their appearance later. James Cleveland was arrested that day by Officer Simpson for parking his car near a fire hydrant on Wall street. He also gave bail for his appearance later.

MAKING READY FOR STATE COPS

The Kingston Patrolman's Association is making extensive preparations for the eighteenth annual convention of the State Patrolman's Association which meets here September 1 and 2. The sessions of the convention will be held in the assembly room of the Elks' Club on Fair street.

The opening session will be called to order Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock by Andrew W. Walker, president of the local association. Officer Walker will introduce Mayor Canfield who will deliver the address of welcome. The meeting will then be turned over to Thomas P. Dolan of Albany, president of the state body, who will respond to the mayor's welcome. Following this the session will adjourn and the body will go into executive session. In the evening the local association will take the visiting delegates to Keeney's Theatre.

On Thursday morning the business session will be opened at 10 o'clock and it is hoped to have all the business completed by 2:30 in the afternoon, when the delegates will be taken in automobiles around the Ashokan reservoir. After the auto trip the visiting cops will be taken to Pessenar's grill. Mayor Canfield, the police commissioners, Chief Wood and City Judge Schirick will be present at the banquet.

About fifty delegates from all over the state are expected here. The officers of the state body are: President, Thomas P. Dolan of Albany; first vice-president, James V. Simpson of Kingston; second vice-president, James Bell of Troy; secretary, Richard O'Brien of Albany; treasurer, James McNelly of Hudson; auditor, Morrris Horrigan of Amsterdam. James V. Simpson is the delegate from the local association. President Dolan is a retired policeman of Albany having served twenty years on the force. He was also the first secretary of the state organization, and succeeded the late John Griffin as president. He has held that office for four years and is very popular among his brother policemen.

Local shippers, as well as those who receive parcels by express, will be interested in knowing that the Public Service Commission, second district, has authorized the American Railway Express Company and the Canadian Express Company to put into effect on one day's notice and not before Sept. 1 new rates and charges increasing by 12½ per cent. rates now in effect, excepting rates on shipments of milk and cream and other shipments taken at the same rates. The commission does not approve the new rates. They are subject to investigation and suspension at any time within thirty days and also subject to complaint and investigation at any other time.

The order covers express shipments within New York state and the increase is to conform to interstate rates authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

HOTEL CHANGE.

Shiels and Casey Now Run Goshen Hostelry.

On October 1st there will be a change of ownership and management of the New Orange Hotel, at Goshen, N. Y. The hotel was recently purchased by James D. # If the Telephone Business Were Your Business

YOU would want to give good service.

YOU would want to maintain an adequate force of capable workers.

YOU would want to keep your property in good repair.

YOU would want to extend it to provide the increased service needed by the public.

YOU would want to pay a fair return to the investors who have put their savings into your business.

YOU would want to secure sufficient net revenue to attract the new capital required for enlarging your plant.

YOU would want to do the very things we want to do—the very things that YOU know must be done to maintain good service.

EVERYTHING required for providing telephone service costs much more money than ever before. Our expenses have increased twice as fast as our revenues. We are now earning only a little more than our bare operating expenses. Such a return is not enough for our business or for any other business.

INCREASED REVENUE is necessary. By establishing new rates to secure this added revenue we are doing just what you would do if you were in the telephone business. It is the only action you could take to meet your obligations to give the people of this State good service.

Average Duration of Life.

Good authorities give the average duration of human life as about thirty-three years. One quarter of the people on the earth die before the age of six, one-half before the age of sixteen, and only about one person of each 100 born lives to the age of sixty-five. The deaths are calculated at sixty-seven a minute, [illegible] a day and [illegible] a year. Births are calculated at about seventy a minute, 100,800 a day and 36,792,000 a year.

"WAY DOWN EAST," AT RECORD PRICES

Kingstonians who paid fifty cents and one dollar to witness the premier picturization of D. W. Griffith's production of "Way Down East" at the Keeney Theater on Thursday and Friday will be interested in the announcement carried in this morning's New York newspapers, that a record admission price for motion pictures in New York will be established for the opening night of the picture at the Forty-fourth Street Theater next Friday.

Most of the orchestra seats will be sold for $10 and seats in the first balcony will be $5. On succeeding nights, it is expected, a majority of seats on the lower floor will be sold at $2, which was the scale at which Griffith's "The Birth of a Nation" was exhibited some years ago.

HIT TELEPHONE POLE.

Three Men in a Car Have a Narrow Escape.

A Peerless automobile carrying three men who were on their way from New York to Albany, hit a telephone pole in front of the Pennington residence at Ulster Park about 4 o'clock this morning. The two men in the front seat had their hands cut by broken glass from the wind shield. The telephone pole was broken off about in the middle and the upper part left hanging suspended by the cable. The car was run under its own power to Mott's garage at Esopus. The men say they were dazzled by the glaring headlight of an approaching car, but it may have been just a recurrence of the white lights of New York that dazzled them.

AN INTERNATIONALLY FAMOUS RACING DRAMA.

With all that the world holds worth while—love, untold wealth, a beautiful child and one of the noblest names in the land, the Duke and Duchess of Desborough were the prey of sinister forces. They were the objects and the victims of ruthless envy.

A fawning friend and an incident in the past of the Duke played against all that was strong and lasting. They disrupted a great affection, and laid low the pride of ages. Then the sporting Duchess played her last card. All that was dearest in the world was cast in the great Derby. And then—

There is bated interest in every flicker of this great drama. It is a master achievement of the cinema that will mark the standard for other producers for some time to come.

BRITISH-ISRAELITES.

The British-Israel World Federation, composed of persons who believe that the British people are descended from the Ten Lost Tribes of Israel, recently held a convention in London. Inquiring newspaper correspondents were told that the antiquarians and historians of the federation have traced the royal family of Britain straight back to David through the kings of the United Kingdom, the Scotch dynasties before them, and then "thirteen generations of the Kings of Argylshire and fifty-four generations of the Kings of Ireland" to the Jewish royal family. It appears that these "'British Israelites" have even gone so far as to elaborate "a complete lineage from Adam to King George V."

No doubt King George and the British people, like the rest of us, are descended from Adam—whether Adam be regarded as a man or (according to some) as the first of the earth's civilizations. But the claim that the British royal family is descended from David and the British people from the Ten Lost Tribes of Israel is likely in most cases to strain credulity to the breaking point. According to long accepted historical accounts, the Ten Tribes were carried off by Assyrian conquerors and scattered widely in the interior of Asia Minor. Moreover, even if they had been able to escape thence by airships to the British Isles, their descendants of today would still in a measure be true to the old ethnic type. The members of the British royal family look rather more German than English for very good reasons, but there is nothing about them or the British people to suggest the Jews. The Tribe of Judah has remained physically distinct throughout the centuries, and so it must have been with the Ten Lost Tribes if they had not been dispersed and mixed with the races of Asia Minor.

MORE APPROPRIATE SLOGANS

Mr. White, captain of Cox's campaign committee, craftily commences the combat by appealing to alliteration's artful aid. "Peace, Progress and Prosperity," he proclaims as platform platitudes for proselyting purposes. Additional arrays of absolutely appropriate alliteratives are appended:

Bombast, bureaucracy and bolshevism;
Democracy, destructiveness and deficits;
Extravagance and empty exchequer;
Hypocrisy, hubbub and hysteria;
Partisanship, procrastination and perversity;
Secrecy, stubbornness and seclusion;
Socialism, sophistry and supreme sacrifice;
Tammany, trickery and tribulation;
Vanity, vacillation and verbosity.

What White wants is words. Principles, policies and performances play petty parts in his politics. Seductive slogans seem superior to sound statesmanship. Misjudging men's mentality, he makes mummery a mask for mendacity. With peace prevented by presidential perversity, progress postponed by paternalism, and prosperity primarily produced by war profits, a political party presumes to predicate its pleas upon prevaricating pretense.

Members of the police department at Wilmington, N. C., have been notified that hereafter they must all attend church every Sunday. Whether it is the morals of the police or the behavior of the congregation that demands attention is not announced.

Lenine, like the former Kaiser, dreams of becoming a Napoleon, and, like the former Kaiser, he seems to be fool enough to imagine that such things can be done from a luxurious office, without hustling out and leading armies in person.

Arthur Jackson stepped into a Chicago shoe store to ask the price of a pair of shoes displayed in the window, and when the cheerful announcement—"$15.50 without the war tax"—fell on his ears he dropped dead. After all, the human machine is pretty tough, for most of us in recent months have been confronted with even more startling figures and yet managed to survive.

Sir Oliver Lodge and Sir Conan Doyle may get busier than ever now that the Anglican bishops in convention, while admitting possible usefulness in psychical research, solemnly submit that "the practice of spiritualism as a cult involves subordination of the intelligence and will to unknown forces of personalities, and to that extent is an abdication of self-control."

LITTLE LAUGHS.

◆ ◆ ◆

"I shall never forget the look on her face when she found me in her pew," said the plainly-dressed woman.

"You were evidently sitting in the seat of the scornful," remarked her friend.—Boston Transcript.

"Oh, Clarice, I'm so worried! You know you told me to put that piece of wedding cake under my pillow and I'd dream of my future husband."

"Yes, dear; didn't it work?"

"That's what worries me. I dreamed of the Seventy-first Regiment."—American Legion Weekly.

Barbara Jane, aged five, was accompanying her mother on a short shopping trip. In her hand she carried a large cookie given her just before starting. They had gone only a short distance when Barbara Jane suddenly stopped.

"Wait a minute mamma."

Turning, she started back toward home, closely inspecting the sidewalk as she went. Her mother, thinking that perhaps her daughter had lost her ring or some other small article, searched, too, as she followed Barbara Jane. A big policeman who happened to be standing near, seeing that something seemed to be lost, also began to search the sidewalk. A kindly disposed citizen next joined in the quest. But nothing was to be found.

"Barbara Jane, what are you hunting for?" finally asked her mother.

"Why, mamma, I've lost my raisin out of my cookie," replied Barbara Jane.—Harper's Magazine.

With Her Own Favorite.

"Daughter, I hope you will go to church this evening. The pastor's subject, 'An Hour With Favorite Hymns,' should be interesting."

"I should like very much to go father, but I have an engagement with my own favorite him tonight."—Boston Transcript.

Disciplined.

"What does a Bolshevist really believe?"

"He is no longer supposed to trouble about beliefs on his own account," replied the Red general. "He limits himself to paying strict attention to what I tell him."—Washington Star.

Poor Baby.

"What is the baby crying so about, Katie?"

"The master's shirt studs, ma'am."

"Why don't you let the little dear have them, then?"

"I did, ma'am, and he's swallowed 'em."—London Ideas.

Timely Advice.

Trolley Conductor—Well, what do you want?

Perturbed Passenger (whispering)—If there's a coroner's office on your route you had better stop there. The man sitting next to me has a wood alcohol breath.—Judge.

MISS GISH LIKES CITY.

Movie Star Reluctant To Speak of Own Work.

Miss Lillian Gish, moving picture favorite is a most modest young woman who unlike the majority of moving picture "stars," wishes to avoid notoriety and when interviewed by a Freeman reporter at the Stuyvesant Hotel appeared to be greatly embarrassed when asked if she did not have some message for her Kingston admirers.

It was difficult to get Miss Gish to speak of her screen work, she preferring to talk of Kingston and its surroundings.

"Kingston is such a quaint town with such romantic surroundings," said Miss Gish. "I like Kingston."

The old stone houses of Kingston were of great interest and an endeavor to get Miss Gish to speak of her film work always led back to Kingston and its quaint surroundings. In fact Miss Gish only once referred to her part in the producing the "Way Down East." She referred to the big snow-storm scene and remarked that "they kept us out for a long time in the storms while getting that scene."

Miss Gish was very anxious to know how Kingston audiences had received the picture and what comment had been made and when informed that "Way Down East" had made a decided hit with Kingston people seemed pleased.

The Truth Of It.

When a person solemnly states that he "worked like a dog" all day it is probable he hasn't considered the correct meaning of the phrase. If this were literally true the twenty-four hours would be spent thus: One hour digging out a rat, two hours gnawing a bone, one hour waiting for a cat to come down from a tree, half an hour begging to come into the house and the rest of the time sleeping on a mat in front of the door or fighting fleas.—Gardiner Weekly.

Superfluous Invention.

Say where some professor thinks he has invented a machine to detect when a man is lying. That machine was constructed years ago from one of Adam's ribs.—Dayton News.

AT THE THEATERS.

Alice Joyce at Keeney's—Nazimova at the Opera House.

Alice Joyce appears as "Duchess of Desborough" in "The Sporting Duchess" at Keeney's tonight. It is lavishly produced, on a bigger scale and with more detail than the original stage version. "The Street Called Straight," a picturization of Basil King's novel will be shown at Keeney's Monday. Milton Sills and Naomi Childers play the leading roles in this world famous magazine story.

Nazimova, that amazing star of the screen, appeared at the Kingston Opera House yesterday and delighted hundreds of her admirers in her newest production "Stronger Than Death." Her interpretation of Sigrid Ferson, the volatile dancer of the London music halls, whom fate throws into a votex of conflict and intrigue in the heart of India, demonstrated why Nazimova had been called the "Star of a Thousand Moods" and the greatest actress in the world. It will be shown for the last two times at the Opera House tonight.

Like a bit of sunshine is Mae Murray in her newest picture, "The A B C of Love," showing at the Auditorium tonight. She portrays a ragged little country girl whose sole possession is an old mare nearing its last days. Also William Duncan in "The Silent Avenger." Monday Frank Mayo in "The Red Lane."

With the magic of a spectacular New York success as a cartoon strong upon it, "Polly and Her Pals," will come to the Kingston Opera House next Tuesday, matinee and night.

In "The Wanderer," which comes to the Kingston Opera House next Thursday, matinee and night, is shown a remarkable stage version of the old but ever appealing parable of The Prodigal Son, transforming its simple narrative into dramatic action and dialogue.

WOMAN'S TRIBUTE.

To "Way Down East."—Sermon in Morality.

To the Editor, Kingston Daily Freeman:

My Dear Sir:—Because I know that I voice the true sentiment of so many who witnessed the marvelous presentation of "Way Down East," given at the Keeney Theatre Thursday evening, Mr. Griffith himself being present, may I ask you to voice this since tribute of "A Kingston Woman," in the columns of your paper?

In that masterpiece, "The Birth of a Nation," David Wark Griffith created not only the outward and visible sign of a nation born, he bared the awakening of that nation's soul to all who have seen or shall see that unrivaled picture.

In "Way Down East," Mr. Griffith has taken one step farther in his living message of the screen; he has discovered and laid bare the man-soul that was born in every son who fought for mother, sister, sweetheart, wife and home against the unspeakable German teaching that man's brute might can crush woman's inherent right.

As long as men and women shall see "Way Down East," given by those artists who have so deeply suffered in soul to present the artist-preacher's great sermon whose text is "One Standard of Right for Man and Woman," the standard of the Man of Nazareth, so long shall there be more of purity, righteousness and inexpressible happiness in the world.

A KINGSTON WOMAN.

CITY ASSESSMENTS.

Schenectady's Rate Increases Despite Increased Valuation.

The mayor's bureau has issued another report giving the assessment data concerning the cities of the state. The report covers thirty-[illegible] cities which has been received to date. Everyone of the cities increased the assessments either last year or this year. Some of the cities double the assessments. Middletown made an increase of 133 per cent or one-third more than double. The increase in Kingston will not average over twenty per cent. Practically all of the other cities have increased their respective assessments to a much greater extent. As the state income tax is distributed to the municipalities according to the total assessment of real property, the cities have increased their assessments in order that they may receive the maximum amount.

Notwithstanding these increases in assessment some of the cities show an increase in the tax rates. The comptroller of Schenectady announced yesterday its tax rate for 1920. There is an increase of $3.50 on each $1,000 assessment over last year. The increase last year was about $5.00 above 1918. The new rate with the state and county rate added will be over $41.00 on each $1,000 assessed valuation. This high record rate is reached despite an increase of over $5,000,000 in the assessed valuation of property in the city.

SILK MAKING SHOWN VISITORS

And Those Who Inspected Kattermann and Mitchell Mill Found Much to Marvel at in Processes at This Most Modern Plant.

Fully three hundred people accepted the invitation of the Chamber of Commerce and visited the new Kattermann & Mitchell silk mill on Cornell street last evening to inspect Kingston's latest big industry. After a thorough inspection of the big factory everyone agreed that the Chamber of Commerce did have in the Kattermann & Mitchell mill concrete evidence of their activities and usefulness.

Postmaster William C. DeWitt, chairman of the reception committee, was kept busy during the early evening welcoming people who came out to the factory and later assisted the mill officials in "showing" the factory and machinery. Mayor Canfield and Secretary Hudson of the Chamber of Commerce assisted Mr. DeWitt in making everyone feel at home.

During the evening Manager Baisneck and Superintendent Harker, who are both experienced silk men, started up the big looms and showed the visitors the various steps in making silk from the raw material as it is received from Japan. Although both were very patient and answered the hundreds of questions asked by the visitors, it is doubtful if many of the visitors know today just how silk is made from those delicate silk threads as they are first received at the mill. Starting at the first operation where the tiny threads are wound on spools from the skeins as received from Japan and taking the course of the material through the various processes until the finished silk was reached, was a most interesting and wonderful sight for the people, the majority of whom had never had the slightest idea as to how silk was made.

Manager Baisneck and Superintendent Harker carefully explained each operation. The process of making silk at the Kattermann & Mitchell mill was thoroughly explained in The Freeman a few days ago after an inspection trip through the factory, where each operation was thoroughly explained and illustrated to the reporter.

There was a great deal of interest manifested last evening in the little skeins of silk as they are received from Japan. These skeins of delicate silk fiber with an average of 220,000 yards to the pound, are woven from the cocoon in Japan and sent to America where the silk is woven into the finished material.

Many of the visitors at the mill last evening had not seen the factory since its completion and were loud in their praise for the appearance of the factory, which is one of the most attractive appearing buildings in the city. The mill, constructed of brick with concrete trim and large glass windows, is of the most modern design, being what is known as a 90 percent light factory. So called from the fact that 90 percent of the walls are glass, giving the best of working conditions and making the use of artificial light practically unnecessary during working hours.

For the inspection last evening only the first floor was illuminated by the big mercury lights of which there are 150 on each floor, flooding the room at night with a soft brilliant light which is scarcely outdone by daylight. Working with the mercury lights it is possible for the weavers to operate their looms without the usual eye-strain which ordinary lights would give and without the usual dark shadows which other lights cast.

That Kingston's latest factory will prove to be one of the big industries of the town was the general opinion last evening and the Chamber of Commerce deserves credit for their activities in bringing this mill to town. Not only has Kingston gained one of the most modern manufacturing industries and added a most attractive building to that section of the city but the concern is one of the best paying industries in the city. At present it is impossible to operate all of the looms in the building on account of scarcity of experienced help but learners are being taken on and when they have mastered the trade they will have learned a trade which always commands a high wage.

One of the weavers, who is experienced, for one week during August received a wage of $45.88, another less experienced made $32.31 while a third received $24.95. In this mill both men and women receive the same wage for the same work and the work, although it requires great skill and experience, is not hard work.

The invitation which the Chamber of Commerce extended to the women of the city brought out a large number, perhaps half of the visitors last evening being women who are interested in the welfare of Kingston and the work of the Chamber of Commerce.

Ohio Post Sets Record.

Springfield, O., has hung up a record in getting new members for the Legion that other communities will have a hard time bettering. The Springfield post put on its campaign for four days recently. The city was organized into ward and precinct teams. Solicitors worked in pairs and backed applicants into corners and took their cash, usually without protest. The names of men who refused to join were turned in at post headquarters and a corps of expert salesmen were put on the trail of these hard nuts. The friendly co-operation of business houses, newspapers and motion picture theaters was secured. The result loomed up when the dust settled after the four days and it was discovered that the post had increased its membership from 150 to 1,700.

Radio Telephoning.

The first experiment in long-distance radio telephoning was made in 1914: the attempt resulting after many efforts in successful transmission of speech from Washington to Paris and San Francisco.

LEADERS WON TWO STRAIGHT

From Famous Virginias Thirty-seven Years Ago—Southern Team Treated Royally While in This City.

Monday and Tuesday of next week will be the anniversary of two memorable days of baseball, as thirty-seven years ago the Leader baseball team of Kingston, then the leading semi-professional club in the country, on August 30th and 31st, 1883, played the Virginias of Richmond, winning both games. The games were played on the Donovan grounds, Washington avenue and Linderman avenue. The Virginias were the best professional team south of the national capital, being the leaders in the Southern league, and, like the Leaders, had been victorious in virtually all their contests. Although professional baseball players they were true types of southern gentlemen. The team arrived on August 29th and remained in Kingston until September 2d, being entertained at the Eagle Hotel. Capt. Charles H. Epps, the manager of the Virginas, was then chief of police of Richmond and accompanied his players here, and greatly appreciated the courteous treatment accorded him and his men, he making friends of those he met. He went to the Overlook Mountain House, then one of the leading Catskill mountain resorts, accompanied by Walter S. Fredenburgh, manager of the Leaders, who kept Capt. Epps and the players going all the time, the Leader team assisting in making the visit of the Virginias most pleasant. They were on a tour of the north playing in a score of cities, and were defeated but twice on the trip, once by the Brooklyns in that city by the professional team, and in the two games played in this city, which were in succession. The score on the first game here, August 30th, was Leaders, 8; Virginias, 7; the former not playing their half of the ninth inning. The line-up of the Leaders was W. Dugan, 2b; Richard F. (Dick) Johnston, ss.; Myron S. Allen, p.; Eddie Dugan, cf; Sam D. Gibson, 1b; Ed. Shay, c; John G. Van Etten, rf; Laurence Van Etten, 3b; J. Forsyth, lf. The game was witnessed by a large crowd.

On the following day, August 31st, the second game was played, and the grounds were packed with enthusiastic baseball fans who went almost wild with excitement. As before stated the Leaders were again victors, the score standing, Leaders, 5; Virginias, 4, and again the Leaders were not compelled to play the ninth inning. In the eighth inning the visitors scored one run and at one time it seemed as if the score would be tied, but Eddie Dugan who did the twirling prevented the Virginias from getting any more tallies.

The line-up of the Leaders in the second game was George A. Johnston, left field; Richard F. Johnston, short stop; Myron S. Allen, second base; W. Dugan, catcher; Eddie Dugan, pitcher; Sam D. Gibson, first base; Christy Hassett, third base; Ed. Shay, right field; John G. Van Etten, center field. This game was pronounced the best game of base ball ever played on the Leader grounds, and it was a magnificent victory for the home team. The Leaders went on a trip south in September and visited Richmond, Va., playing the Virginias on September 14 and 15, and as the fame of the Leaders had preceded them by reason of their defeating the leaders of the Southern League, the Kingston players were given a royal welcome, and it appeared like a holiday in the Capital city of the Old Dominion state.

Sergeant Louis Van Iersel, who won more decorations in the A. E. F. than the famed Sergeant York, has returned to his home in Passaic, N. J., bringing with him a bride, formerly Miss Hendricks De Ronde of Dussen, The Netherlands. Van Iersel came to this country in 1916 and enlisted in the American Army when war broke. It was in the army that he learned the American language. He captured sixty-five German prisoners single-handed in the Champagne. For this he received the Croix de Guerre. He won the Congressional Medal of Honor by getting information under fire that saved his unit, Company M, Ninth Infantry, from annihilation. Other decorations he won were two more Croix de Guerre with palm and stars, Medal Militaire, Distinguished Service Cross, Montenegran Medal, and a regimental fourarguerre.

Mrs. Lottie Shanks, who won first prize in a "hair" competition at Bascadney, England. Mrs. Shanks' tresses reach to the ground. This is the second time she has won first prize for her long tresses. Hair specialists who have viewed the woman's head state that she has the longest hair of any woman in the world.

Famous Gargoyles.

Gargoyle is a name given to a projecting spout, so placed that it drains the roof gutter. The modern metal pipes have superseded the use of gargoyles to a great extent. In gothic architecture these long and grotesquely-carved spouts have heads of men, beasts or birds in preposterous combination with bodies, paws and wings of monsters. The gargoyles of the cathedral of Notre Dame are particularly famous.

HOW PERSONS OF WEALTH HAVE MADE AND LOST IMMENSE FORTUNES.—In America, it is said, there are many men who have added a million or two dollars to their "pile" between breakfast and luncheon; and more who have sat down to their breakfasts able to write a check for a million, and have gone to bed without a dollar, remarks a writer in London Answers.

It is not long since Joseph Hoadley made £200,000 in five minutes by the clock on the New York cotton exchange; and before he sat down to his dinner he was £800,000 richer than when he cracked his morning egg. The late Harriman once made £400,000 at the rate of £50,000 a minute; and on the same day one of his porters cleared £10,000. Theodore Price, a few years ago, made £100,000 in five minutes' gambling in cotton, and doubled his winnings before he went home. J. J. Livermore, who but a few years ago was office boy to a Boston broker, is credited with having added £100,000 to his capital in less time than it takes a man to eat his breakfast; while during a recent week Patten's profits on a speculation in maize totaled £400,000.

And the losses are on an equally magnificent scale. Joseph Leiter in one unhappy hour dropped £320,000 through a 20 cent fall in the price of wheat; Jacob Astor and two of his friends lost £600,000 between breakfast and luncheon; and a slump in Union Pacific cost a few millionaires, including J. J. Astor and Mr. Goelet, the appalling sum of £1,800,000.

WILL MAKE MAPS FROM AIR

How Canadian Government Is Planning to Locate Breeding Places of the Mosquito.

At first glance one wouldn't say that airplanes bore much relation to mosquitoes. But they can be made to, and have been made to, up in the Fraser valley of British Columbia, where there are great areas of low-lying land, undeveloped and ill-drained.

Mosquitoes have become a great pest in this region, seriously reducing milk production. The Dominion government, accordingly, stationed an expert entomologist there last spring to make a survey on which effective control measures could be based.

Here is where the airplane entered. Eric Hearle, the government entomologist, had spent days in slow compilation of his mosquito map, a device to show the location of breeding places.

He had toiled through marshes, and from mountain tops, with glasses, had taken observations. Then he thought of the airplane.

Aerial observations proved to be the ideal method. "In ten minutes aloft," declared the government entomologist, "I made more progress with my map than I had in weeks on the ground."

Mr. Hearle took a big map up with him in the airplane, and as mosquito breeding places were located indicated their position on the map.

British Columbia intends to use hydroplanes to perform another important function. Her forests are the most extensive and valuable in Canada, and they cover an undeveloped empire of thousands of square miles. It is proposed to use a hydroplane patrol system during periods of fire danger.

Hydroplanes are preferred to land machines in order that inland ponds and lakes can be used for landing places.

How Woodpecker Protects Trees.

Among the natural guardians of the trees are the woodpeckers, which gather their food as they creep round the trunks and branches. They have two toes before and two behind for climbing, and may usually be seen clinging erect to tree trunks, but rarely, if ever, with head downward, like the nuthatches and titmice. As the food of the woodpecker is nearly as abundant in winter as in summer they are seldom migratory. They never forage in flocks, like some of the granivorous birds whose food is more plentiful, but scatter out over wide areas, and thus better their fare. They bear the same relation to other birds that take their food from trees, as snipes and woodcocks bear to thrushes and quails—that is, they bore into the wood as the snipe bores into the earth, while thrushes and quails seek their sustenance on the surface of the ground.

How Gas Injures Plants.

The injury to plants caused by gas has been a subject of investigation by C. Wehmer, a German. Continuous streams of illuminating gas were passed through soil containing potted herbaceous plants as well as wooden plants three to seven years old. All plants in their period of active growth were soon killed. Trees in late summer and early autumn suffered chiefly from shedding their foliage, and in their dormant winter period they were little affected. Seeds were very sensitive to the gas, both in their resting state and after germination had begun. The injury is found to be a result of active poisoning, and not mere exclusion of oxygen.

Not a Frenzied Financier.

Charged with having taken £145 of his employers' money, a Newcastle office boy was declared to have been [illegible] trading [illegible]. It was thought [illegible] only fair to the financial papers [illegible] the [illegible] should know where he got the idea from.—Punch, London.

GALLAGHER PROPERTY.

About to Change Hands But State Doesn't Get It.

It seems a bit strange that the sale of the Gallagher property on North Front street, adjoining the Old Senate House to a private party should have been contracted for in view of the fact that its acquisition by the state has so long been under consideration. Senator Walton, when spoken to about the matter a few days ago said: "Well, I have been trying to interest the people of Kingston regarding this matter for a long time but failed to arouse any special interest in it." We have what is known as a board of trustees who are supposed to have charge of this hallowed old shrine. And it would seem that this august body of leading citizens, imbued with historic and patriotic regard for our ancient possessions in Kingston, as they are known to be, should not have taken some official action in this matter to bring it before the state authorities before this sale was consummated. And yet, strangely enough, this first capitol of the Empire State which attracts crowds of people from every country on the globe every day, who express great interest and admiration for this ancient structure, continues to awaken very little interest among our local residents. They look upon it now as an "old story." And yet the custodian in charge informs me that the visitors there now number over 500 a week and she is obliged to employ an assistant to wait upon the throng each day.

This Gallagher property which was formerly held at a high figure when the state talked of buying, could now have been secured at the fair value offered by this individual buyer. In fact, Mr. Gallagher says he would have preferred to sell it to the state as a matter of patriotic pride. Under the present conditions the acquisition of the cottage owned by Mr. Kraft, does not seem desirable unless the Gallagher plot can be reclaimed. This bill has not yet passed but only awaits some minor details. There is much comment in the city over the matter and some public statement from the trustees would be of public interest.

Of course no action can be taken by the state without some formal move by our local citizens here.

The actual contributions for 1920-1921 will be made according to law upon the basis of the "Equalization Table of 1920," which will not be available until September, 1920.

§ 6. The moneys appropriated by this act, except as otherwise provided by sections two and five, shall be available only to pay liabilities incurred within the year beginning July first, nineteen hundred and twenty, and ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and twenty-one, except for repairs, construction or permanent betterments. All former appropriations from the general fund and the canal maintenance fund and the various acts therefor, except appropriations for repairs, construction work and permanent betterments and appropriations made by the legislature of nineteen hundred and nineteen, shall cease to have force or effect after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and twenty, other than for the payment of liabilities incurred on or before that date

The comptroller shall forthwith prepare and publish definitions of the classification of expense by titles employed in this act, defining the purposes for which moneys appropriated under each title may be expended. The comptroller shall have the power to amend such definitions from time to time as in his judgment becomes necessary for the proper conduct of the fiscal affairs of the state. The definitions, as published by the comptroller, and as amended, shall govern expenditures from these appropriations and the audit of claim and accounts by the comptroller where said classifications are used in this act.

§ 320-b State aid to counties for the construction or improvement of highways or roads. There shall be paid by the state, annually, to the several counties, in the manner hereinafter provided, an amount equal to the amount levied or provided therein for the construction and improvement of highways or roads in accordance with the provisions of sections three hundred and twenty or three hundred and twenty-a of this chapter or any other general or special law authorizing the levy of county taxes or raising of funds by county obligations for the construction and improvement of highways or roads within a county, other than county highways, except that no county shall receive from the state in any year under this section an amount exceeding thirty dollars per mile for the total mileage of the highways in such county outside of cities and incorporated villages, such mileage to be determined by the tables prepared by the commissioner of highways, pursuant to subdivision twelve of section fifteen of this chapter, as filed in the office of the comptroller. The clerk of the board of supervisors of each county shall, on or before the first day of January in each year, transmit to the state comptroller and the commissioner a statement, signed and verified by the chairman of the board, and certified by the clerk, which shall state the total amount of county taxes levied therein or moneys provided by county obligations for the construction and improvement of such highways or roads. The board of supervisors of any county shall determine the place where and the manner in which such money shall be expended for the construction and improvement of highways or roads, pursuant to the provisions of sections three hundred and twenty or three hundred and twenty-a of this chapter, or pursuant to any other general or special law authorizing county aid in the construction and improvement of highways or roads within the county other than county highways. Milk—The nominal wholesale price is 3 35 100 lbs delivered in New York.

The wholesale markets were liberally supplied with fruits and vegetables this week. The general receipts, however, have been slightly less than during the previous two weeks.

Some fancy products advanced slightly but the bulk of stock continued to sell at low prices. The market at the close of the week was almost demoralized for cantaloupes, lima beans and green peppers while potatoes, cabbage, lettuce, tomatoes and most all other varieties of green vegetables showed very little change in prices since the close of last week.

The receipts of thousands of packages on the market in very poor condition has caused the handlers of these packages a great deal of trouble without a compensating return. Poor grade stock should never be packed in with good stock.

The receipts of apples from all sections continued to be plentiful. The bulk of the stock was small sized and of poor color but the stock is improving in size and quality. New York Dutchess apples, best grades, sold from $1.25 to $1.50 a bushel, ordinary Dutchess sold for as low as $1. "Wealthy," best, sold for from $2 to $2 25 per bushel.

The receipts of up-river Bartlett pears of the best grade sold for from $8.50 to $9 per barrel, ordinary pears of this variety sold for from $7.50 to $8. The best grades of this variety were sold in bushel hampers for from $3 50 to $3 75, with a few sales for extra fancy pears at from $4 to $4.50.

The first few shipments of Liberty prunes from the up-river sections arrived on the market this week. The offerings were not very desirable because of the very small size of the fruit. The best offerings sold for from 60c to 65c per four quart basket.

Warren is attorney for plaintiff; Otto J. Kalk attorney for defendant.

Palenville Casino Robbed.

The Casino at Palenville, owned by J. Frankforter, was burglarized some time Thursday evening, and about $200 worth of articles stolen. The burglars made a leisurely job of it, and after taking what they wanted helped themselves to dishes of ice cream and sitting down at a table proceeded to enjoy a treat. Entrance was secured from the rear. It was reported to the state troopers and they are conducting an investigation.

Priscilla Alden Candies.

Sarah M. Palmer of 70 Main street, Saugerties, has filed with the Ulster county clerk a certificate that she is conducting a business in the Davis block, Saugerties, under the name and style, "Priscilla Alden Candies."

Aluminum in the Kitchen.

In a series of tests of aluminum cooking utensils to see how various foods affect them, Prof. John Glaister of Glasgow university, has found that the only substances which attack aluminum surface are oranges, lemons, Brussels sprouts and tomatoes. But even in these cases the quantity of aluminum dissolved was so slight that it could have no effect whatever on the flavor of the food.

Apparent Mental Lapse.

Not a great while ago a young man told us that he was thinking seriously of getting married. Shortly afterward he did. Some people have no conception at all of what serious thinking really is.—K. S. A. C. in Brown Bull.

Ant Hills Start a Fire.

Perhaps the strangest of causes which ever produced a fire was an ant hill. There is a species of ant known as the wood ant which makes a neat colony of vegetable matter. Under certain circumstances this may ferment until it gets hot enough to begin to smolder. Then comes a breeze which fans the spark into flame, and the result may be a serious forest fire.

White Faces for Brown Women.

The women of the Barua tribe of Africa have a rich brown skin, but ever since they saw the white skin of some Caucasian travelers they have been making a paste which they smear over their faces until it gives them the appearance of wearing a false face.

About Heaven.

There is a well-known story about a child being told that animals don't go to heaven, whereupon she inquired how heaven could flow with milk and honey if there were no cows there to supply the milk. A new variant of this has appeared. A new modern youngster on being told the same thing remarked "Then what's the use of goin' if we have to go the bad place every morning for our milk."—Boston Transcript.

Why the Aspen Leaf Quivers.

The aspen leaf quivers easily because it is broad and placed on a long, very flexible stalk. The upper part of the stalk is flattened and, being at right angles with the leaf, is liable to be moved by the faintest breeze.

Ostrich Shows Affection.

The first case on record of any demonstration of affection on the part of an ostrich is recorded on the Cawston farm near South Pasadena, Cal. An ostrich hen was raised from the incubation period by Mrs. R. S. Smith of Riverside and became very much attached to the lady. Subsequently it was necessary to remove the bird to the Cawston place where it moped to the point that it almost died. Mrs. Smith happened to visit the place and the bird immediately recognized her and refused to leave.

Mad Dance of Molecules.

Molecules move at a speed of several hundred meters a second and each has several hundred collisions a second.

One Door Bell, Various Tones.

Three different signal tones from an electric bell of ordinary appearance, calling the householder to the front, the rear or the side door with unerring precision, are now made possible by the ingenious device of an Ohio manufacturer. The two electromagnetic coils of the bell have separate armatures, one of which carries the bell clapper, while the other constitutes a hammer.

Why Do We Dream?

We often dream about what has occupied our thoughts during the day; if we think deeply just before falling asleep, our thoughts are bound to color our dream. But many people dream of things that they have certainly not been thinking about. So thoughts are not always the cause.

Sumatra Protects Tigers.

Tigers are protected in Sumatra, the reason being that one of the important industries of that country is the cultivation of an African palm. This palm was introduced several years ago, and the wild hogs so enjoyed its easily-obtained fruits and so thrived on them that they increased and multiplied rapidly until they became a perfect pest. Now, wild hogs are the favorite diet of Sumatran tigers, therefore the protection. But it looks like a dangerous experiment.

Offended.

Miss Violet Chandler, who is a candidate for county school superintendent has requested the Torchlight not to refer to her friends who are helping her in her campaign as her "supporters."—[illegible] Thomas Cat.

FIRE DESTROYS BIG ICE HOUSE

The big 18,000 ton ice house at Port Ewen of the National Ice and Coal Company, formerly Burns Brothers, was totally destroyed by fire which started from some unknown cause between 2:30 and 3 o'clock this morning. The loss is only partially covered by insurance. The house was filled this past Winter but during the summer the ice was loaded on boats and towed to the New York city market. It was emptied about the middle of July.

We all have our office pets, which are usually meek and mild, but to Park Commissioner Francis Gallatin of New York goes the honor of discovering the very newest. Commissioner Gallatin is shown with his pet—a month old baby lion. The little fellow roams around the office at will and usually takes his afternoon nap on Mr. Gallatin's desk in a wire paper basket file.

"No," replied the other; "ours is gunpowder!"

FARM POULTRY

HOW TO OPERATE INCUBATOR

Machine Should Be Placed in Fairly Warm Room and Protected Against Outside Changes.

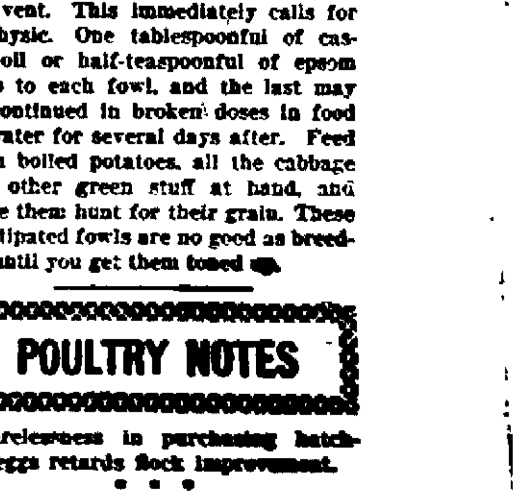
(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

One difficulty in setting eggs as early in the spring as is necessary for early hatchers, if the natural system of incubation is followed, is in finding broody hens at the proper time. If natural incubation be depended upon exclusively the poultry raiser must wait until the hens are ready to set. This is not true, however, if an incubator is available, for if the eggs are fertile they can be started at any time the operator desires.

The incubator should be operated in a fairly warm room, preferably a cellar, as a protection against outside temperature changes. Sudden changes in temperature in the room are to be avoided. The machine should be disinfected thoroughly before being used with a solution of reliable coal tar disinfectant.

Instead of using such a solution a small receptacle containing one-half ounce of permanganate of potash on which one-half ounce of formalin has been poured may be shut up in the incubator. The resulting gas will thoroughly disinfect the machine. After disinfecting the incubator should be run empty for several days to get it into good operating condition. After the eggs are in place the temperature should be held at 101½ to 102 degrees Fahrenheit the first week, 102 to 103 degrees the second week, and 103 the third week.

The eggs usually are turned for the first time at the end of the second day, and twice daily through the eighteenth or nineteenth day. The eggs are cooled outside the hatching chamber once daily after the seventh and up to the nineteenth day. Moisture should be furnished in artificial incubation in the South, in high altitudes, and when the incubator room is dry. This may be done by sprinkling the eggs with warm water or by placing a wet sponge or pan of water under the egg tray.



Removing Hatch From Incubator.

During the hatching period carefully fill the lamp and trim the wick each day. It is best to trim the wick by scraping off the burnt portion rather than by cutting the wick. The lamp should not be filled entirely. After the lamp is filled it should be closely observed for a time to make sure that the flame does not get too high.

SPRING CONDITION OF HENS

Lack of Exercise and Too Much Feed of Dry Kind Often Cause of Constipation.

In the spring fowls often show up in constipated condition. It is usually caused by lack of exercise, green stuff, grit and too much feed of a dry kind. You notice it first on the soiled feathers, next the clogging of the vent. This immediately calls for a physic. One tablespoonful of castor oil or half-teaspoonful of epsom salts to each fowl, and the last may be continued in broken doses in food or water for several days after. Feed them boiled potatoes, all the cabbage and other green stuff at hand, and make them hunt for their grain. These constipated fowls are no good as breeders until you get them toned up.

POULTRY NOTES

Carelessness in purchasing hatching eggs retards flock improvement.

• • •

After all, it is the little things that count for the most in poultry raising.

• • •

Experience teaches us that great care is needed to prevent poultry parasites and poultry diseases.

• • •

The fresher the eggs are when used for hatching, the better, and eggs over 15 days should be discarded.

• • •

If it is worth your while to set any eggs at all, it surely is worth your while to set the eggs worth while.

• • •

When the parent birds lack vitality the chicks are naturally weak, not worth raising, and it is time, patience and money thrown away.

Iron From Everywhere.

A recent investigation of smoke and dust in various iron centers showed that iron can be extracted not only from street dirt, but from roofs, carpets, walls and roofs of buildings, and even from the skins of the inhabitants.

SWIM MEET HERE SEPTEMBER 2

Thursday afternoon, September 2, at 2 o'clock, there will be held the annual swimming meet of the boys of the playgrounds of the city in the big pool at the Y. M. C. A. The meet will be under the direction of J. L. Leeper, Jr., and entries must be made with him before the hour set for the meet.

There will be a novice race swimming one length of the pool, a race for boys under ten years, one length of the pool; a race of two lengths of pool for boys under twelve years; a race of three lengths of the pool for boys twelve years and over. There will also be the plunge for distance, and swimming one length of the pool on back, and also a diving contest the contestants having the choice of three dives. Ribbons will be awarded place winners in each event.

The girls' meet will be held Saturday morning, September 4, at 9:30 o'clock, in the pool under the direction of Miss Estelle House. Particulars will be given later.

PLAYGROUND APPARATUS HERE

Last January some new playground apparatus for the city playgrounds was ordered to arrive here in time for this season. It was shipped but owing to the railroad congestion it has only arrived in Kingston and will be unloaded and stored until next season. Among the apparatus is a rock-a-bye baby swing, one ocean wave and a small hand merry-go-round for Forsyth Park, and a rock-a-bye swing for Kingston Point.

The playground season will officially close Saturday, although the apparatus will remain up at the various fields for a few days longer so that it can be used by the children.

Home vs. House.

Home cannot be given us. We may be given a house, a place to eat and sleep. This is not a home, says the Western Methodist. A home is a place of love and rest and peace. Love and rest and peace must be deserved, must be earned. Nobody can hand them to you as so many packages. They are matters of reciprocity. If you have none to give there will be but little for you to receive.

The First Requisite.

Two-year-old Tom was out for a walk with mother. They met a small boy of about same age. He was very interesting to Tom, because of the man's size hat he was wearing. Mother said: "Well, shall we buy you a hat like that, Tom?" Small Tom considered a while and then said: "No, I ought to have long pants first."

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Aug. 28.—Prices showed a yielding tendency at the opening of the stock market today, initial figures representing losses of from fractions to over four points. Replogle Steel was in supply and dropped 4⅛ to 74. Steel Common declined ⅝ to 90¼. Vanadium Steel was again under pressure, yielding 1⅝ to 68⅝. Baldwin Locomotive was fractionally lower at 108⅛. Studebaker was forced down 1⅛ to 60⅝, and Pierce Arrow sold off to 35⅛. Mexican Petroleum, after opening ⅞ higher at 163½, quickly sold off to 161⅝. Pan-American Petroleum was 1 point lower at 87¼. Fractional losses were general in the rails, Reading falling ½ to 91½. Cuban Cane Sugar was weakest of the sugar group, dropping 1¼ to 31⅝.

The stock market closed steady today. Short coverings caused fractional recoveries in the final trading. Steel Common rose ⅝ to 90⅞ and Baldwin rose from 107⅞ to 108¾. Replogle Steel moved up over 7 points from the low to 77½ and Vanadium Steel rose from 68 to 70. Reading after selling up to 92⅛ reacted to 91¾. Studebaker recovered over 1 point from its low to 61¾ and Pierce Arrow recovered 1⅜ to 37½. Sinclair Oil was in demand selling up to 29. Government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds strong.

Took a Peek Before Answering.

At the time of tests in the schools the small fry were very busy discussing how "awful hard" the questions were and wrinkling their brows in anxiety as to whether they'd passed. There is a humorous side to the matter, however. One small girl reported that she knew she had her first question answered correctly. "How are you so sure?" inquired mother. "Well, it was to name 25 birds and, as the teacher left the bird chart open at that place, it was easy," was the naive reply.—Springfield Union.
